

BOSTON COLLEGE
ARCHIVES

BOSTON COLLEGE
ARCHIVES

THE MUSEUM OF
THE
CITY OF BOSTON

216587

B O S T O N
C O L L E G E
A L U M N U S

J U N E

1 9 3 4

Schenley presents Cream of Kentucky

A Schenley
MARK OF MERIT
PRODUCT
Made in U.S.A.

100 PROOF STRAIGHT
KENTUCKY WHISKEY

Copr., 1934, Schenley
Distributors, Inc.

—at the Price you've been hoping for Good straight whiskey and low price have gotten together! From Kentucky—the home of thoroughbreds—comes Cream of Kentucky, distilled, barrelled and bottled in the heart of the Bluegrass region—straight from the wood—richly mellowed, and abundantly matured in fragrant charred oak casks. A 100 proof product from the country that knows how to make fine liquor—a 100% proof you are going to get from The House of Schenley the quality you have been looking for—at a price you know is right!

Other Schenley Mark of Merit Whiskies

GOLDEN WEDDING • GIBSON'S • O. F. C. • OLD STAGG
MAYFLOWER • MONTICELLO • JAMES E. PEPPER

A THOROUGHbred WHISKEY—YOURS INEXPENSIVELY

The Boston College Club OF CAMBRIDGE

Urges every Boston College man interested in the success of his college to support

Alumnus

This magazine is the most progressive step ever taken for the benefit of the Alumni and the College

This sentiment and space
contributed by the Boston
College Club of Cambridge

THE TOWER ON THE HEIGHTS

B O S T O N C O L L E G E A L U M N U S

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE BOSTON COLLEGE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

JUNE 1934

Subscription $1.00 per year, included in Alumni Dues.

VOL. 1, No. 5

JOHN F. COLLINS, '20, Editor. For the opinions expressed in the editorial columns the editor alone is responsible.

Published five times a year, October, December, February, April and June, at Boston, Mass., by Boston College Alumni Association, 276 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, Mass.

Entered as Second-Class Matter, September 28, 1933, at the Post Office at Boston, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Editorial Comment

Fifty Years

As Alumnus goes to press, preparations are complete for the commemoration of the Golden Jubilee of Boston College's most distinguished alumnus, William Cardinal O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston. While we would prefer to record the actual facts of the commemoration, printer's requirements made this impossible. And so we note only that it is abundantly clear, even at this writing, that His Eminence will be the recipient of universal congratulations and good wishes.

There is no need of repeating here the long series of honors successively gained by William Henry O'Connell, member of the class of 1881. Each of the passing years brought new opportunities, and each opportunity was accepted and turned into a notable success. After fifty years of priesthood, His Eminence can take joy in the memories which will crowd around him. The world too will not forget, and will be prompt to testify to the honor and respect in which it holds our Eminent Archbishop.

Among Catholics, the commemoration will take outward form in Masses of Thanksgiving, a spiritual bouquet from every parish and the collection of a commemorative fund, to be devoted to diocesan charities. But more than these formal exercises, Catholics will be stirred to a deeper realization of the dignity and worth of their Bishop, and will pledge him, on this occasion, an even deeper measure of respect and love and devotion.

What will be done by others who are not of our fold, cannot be precisely stated in advance; but previous anniversaries have been rich in tributes from far and near. One happy event already has occurred. On May 18th, last, His Eminence was elected President of the Board of Trustees of the Boston Public Library. Only a Bostonian can properly estimate the meaning of this appointment; though perhaps non-Bostonians know better than we think the high rank of the Library and the importance of being at its head. In any case, this appointment does mean that His Eminence is rated as an outstanding civic figure, a leader in scholarship and letters and culture, and an administrator highly competent, and generous with his time and energy. To be President of the Library is to occupy a place foremost in honor and respect. It is a gracious and pleasing gesture that this election should come in conjunction with the Golden Jubilee.

Alumnus joins with all the world in congratulating His Eminence on this notable anniversary. It wishes him joy in happy retrospect upon all the events and achievements of these past fifty years. It rejoices with His Eminence that the present occasion finds him still hale and well, young in spirit, old only in wisdom and experience. It prays for His Eminence many more years to come, in which his strength and vigor, his prudence and wisdom will still find work to do; and, if God hears this prayer, it knows that His Eminence will still do many things to raise still higher the pride and devotion of his Catholic subjects, and the respect and admiration of the rest of the world.

* * *

Alumni
Day

Tuesday, June 11th, we shall come back to Alma Mater in keeping with a beautiful custom to renew old friendships and give expression of gratitude and loyalty to our College.

To any man who has a spark of sentiment or good fellowship, the traditional return of the "old Grads" is an especially pleasant event to contemplate. Among the hours of our life, to which we can revert with happiness, as being marked with more than ordinary fulness of joy and enthusiasm, are the hours of our college days. When were we happier and where did we ever meet better friends than at Boston College?

Something is wrong, if we have become so callous or indifferent, that we do not delight to recall those happy days of youth, sports, and companionship, united with the blessings and enlightenment from devoted and loving teachers. Surely, we should meditate on what those years have meant to our lives and our characters. Seneca wrote "a thing is never too often repeated which is never sufficiently learned." Often may it be repeated that we, her sons, owe much to our College. Whatever ability or success we have attained must in truth be ascribed in the greatest measurement to lofty influences which our College has exerted upon us. Recalling from Cicero—"she was the food of our youth and is the delight of our old age."

We may show our gratitude in many ways, but not in any more practical manner than by being active, zealous members of our Alumni, always striving to be of service to the College and to be of mutual help to one another. Alumni Day affords us a pleasant opportunity to exemplify the sincerity of our interest and loyalty.

In the afternoon, we can enjoy the baseball game with Holy Cross. The team this spring is exceptionally good, and merits our spirited support, especially, when we appreciate that it is being so ably coached by one of our own. Coach Frank McCrehan, '25, along with Joe McKenney, '27, is showing the country that Boston College can maintain successfully, graduate coaching, which after all, at least in this writer's opinion, is the proper system for college sports.

Then there is the business meeting and election of officers, which should have your co-operation. Mr. John M. Tobin, '19, our President for the past two years, by unstinted devotion and labor, has done a fine job and is to be warmly commended. But he has had to do altogether too much, alone. Our assistance has been lacking. Let us attend the meeting, this year. Bring some worth while ideas or suggestions. If you have any just complaints or criticisms, let us hear them in a frank and friendly way. Propose any men whom you think would make good officers for our group. Sincere, co-operative effort will accomplish much for our College and our Alumni.

Fellow Alumni—this is all a part of your life. Get in the swing of things at Boston College, do not be, as Alumni, in the group we called "two-thirty birds" when we were at College. If you are, you're out of step and the chances are you are not truly in harmonious step anywhere in life, and will not be until you take an interest in something else, other than yourself.

Come back June 11th, climb the Heights once again, get the old thrill of happy days, as you roam the college grounds, throw off your cares and troubles, put aside your selfish interests, come back with a smile and be boys again. Meet your former classmen, renew and nurture earlier friendships, something we all should do as we go through life, lest in being uncongenial and neglectful, we may some day find ourselves alone.

* * *

To the members of the class about to receive their degrees from Boston College the Alumni Association extends its very sincere greetings with the salutation, "Congratulations."

As you enter the fellowship of alumni, graduates of Boston College, there begins, at Commencement, as the term denotes, a new life,—either the pursuit of further study for Church, professional, educational careers or an entrance into the business world.

We wish you Godspeed in your life's work. May you always avoid the shoals which your devoted professors and advisors have endeavored so constantly to locate for you, and with the proper exercise of your trained intellects arrive at port with a full cargo of useful accomplishment.

You have been a splendid class. From your Freshman days to the very present you have lived up to the best traditions of Boston College men. Your conduct has been exemplary, your initiative commendable. Boston College and its Alumni well may be proud of the records which you leave inscribed in her annals of the past four years.

Your achievements have laid a firm foundation for future classes to build upon. Succeeding students at Boston College well may profit from your excellent spirit.

Your status as undergraduates has come to an end. You are collegians no longer; now, you are college graduates. The Boston College Alumni Association extends to you the hand of welcome. We are frank to admit that we need the contagion of your enthusiasm, a touch of your initiative and the example of your unfailing loyalty. May we add your numerical strength, with the full vigor of your fresh viewpoint, to the company of your fellow alumni,—Boston College and its Alumni Association ask for your continuous, active co-operation and assistance,—1934 we need you. Give us the spirit of unity, the unabated interest, the enthusiasm and the youth of the men of 1934 and the Alumni Association will receive a stimulus that cannot be overestimated. Fresh blood is invigorating.

Nineteen thirty four, we welcome you.

Don't Forget

ALUMNI DAY

Monday, June 11th

Some Observations On Labor and the N. R. A.

By JUDGE JOHN J. BURNS, '21

THE N. R. A. is being attacked from many quarters with virulent animosity. The significance of these new outbursts lies in the business recovery indices which have stimulated the captains of the old order to attempt to regain that absolute power which they feel they abandoned rather too hurriedly in the dark days of a year ago.

The limitation of space makes it impossible even to touch upon the philosophic and economic implications of the Recovery Act. However, in order that my viewpoint may not be misunderstood, I believe—that the only sense in which this legislation can be termed revolutionary is in so far as it attempts for the first time a constructive effort by the government to bring order out of economic chaos; to seek rational adjustments in the field of commerce and industry where heretofore the results depended mainly on blind forces of accident and of haphazard and ruthless strife.

The scope of my efforts permits but a few observations on the important labor section of this Act. Section 7-a provides:

(a) Every code of fair competition, agreement, and license approved, prescribed, or issued under this title shall contain the following conditions:

1. That employees shall have the right to organize and bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing, and shall be free from the interference, restraint, or coercion of employers of labor, or their agents, in the designation of such representatives or in self-organization or in other concerted activities for the purpose of collective bargaining or other mutual aid or protection.
2. That no employee and no one seeking employment shall be required as a condition of employment to join any Company Union or to refrain from joining, organizing, or assisting a labor organization of his own choosing; and
3. That employers shall comply with the maximum hours of labor, minimum rates of pay, and other conditions of employment, approved or prescribed by the President.

This is not the complete innovation the opposition would have one believe. On the contrary the section represents but a further step in the orderly development of our statutory and common law experience in the field of Labor Law. The National War Labor Board in 1918, the Railway Labor Act of 1926 and the Norris-LaGuardia Act of 1932 all recognize the need of legislative guarantees, if collective bargaining is to be given realistic meaning. In fact, the N. R. A. would have been worthy of all the harsh names it has been called, had it permitted mergers and consolidations through Trade Associations covering entire industries and at the same time leaving the workers the victim of this economic unbalancing with no State guaranteed privilege of organizing.

JUDGE JOHN J. BURNS, '21

Shortly after the passage of the Act the necessity of some tribunal to handle labor controversies became apparent. On August 5, 1933, the President created the National Labor Board with Senator Robert F. Wagner as chairman. The President's announcement limited the jurisdiction of the Board to "consider, adjust and settle differences and controversies that may arise through different interpretations of the President's Reemployment Agreement."

On December 16, 1933, by an executive order the National Labor Board was continued as an agency for negotiation, mediation and arbitration of industrial disputes and it was authorized to appoint Regional Boards subject to its jurisdiction. From the start the National Labor Board became the storm center of the industrial disturbances which seemed to flare up throughout the country as labor realized that the government stood sponsor for its right to organize for its own protection. Although, from a strictly legal point of view, there is still much discussion as to the extent to which Labor's position has been improved by this legislation it is almost self-evident that the Act has been enormously advantageous to Labor from a psychological viewpoint. The American Federation of Labor in the implementing of this section has been given complete recognition as the authorized spokesman for the working classes of this country. With few exceptions the Labor representatives on the National and Regional Labor Boards are officials of the A. F. of L. This is understandable in view of the emergency which confronted the President and the fact that outside of the A. F. of L. and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen there were comparatively few units of organized labor that had attained the necessary measure of public confidence which would justify representation on these Boards.

The response of industry to the attempts of organized labor to enforce the labor provisions of the Act was the creation of "Company Unions" in its plants. These organizations had the outward appearance of voluntary associations of workers for the purposes of collective bargaining. Most of them, however, were not truly representative of the workers. Because of their carefully planned constitutions and by-laws which abounded in legal jokers for the employees, these Unions were entirely dominated by the management and consequently a violation of the spirit of the Recovery Act.

When the National Labor Board sought to find the true wishes of the workers in the contest between Company Unions and the outside Labor Groups, usually Unions of the A. F. of L., all the arts of industrial warfare, including propaganda, bribery, force and resort to injunctions were used to prevent the holding under governmental supervision of a free, uncoerced election. The outstanding instances of this type of resistance were the cases of the Weirton Steel Company and the Budd Company of Philadelphia. Despite its great gains under this legislation, organized labor has been very bitter over the failure of swift, decisive action against these two companies. In retrospect the thought may be ventured that the cases against each of these companies were strong enough to prevail in the Courts. For months after complaints had been filed nothing happened except hearings and rehearings and recommendations and threats, now by the Labor Board and now by General Johnson who, however, never quite reached the "cracking down" stage. This temporizing, though not justified, can be best understood when one takes into account the serious doubts entertained by government officials as to the constitutional support this Act would receive in our highest Courts. Then too the delay was due in part to the inevitable clash between administration officials of an organization hastily assembled which as yet has not been thoroughly integrated. The marked liberal tendencies recently evidenced by the Supreme Court of the United States, justify more optimism on the issue of constitutionality.

Congress has decided that the effective regulation of Interstate Commerce requires this sweeping legislation.

Without going into any elaborate legalistic argument, the preponderance of competent opinion seems to be to the effect that Section 7a can be sustained as a device to remove obstructions to and to increase the flow of Interstate Commerce.

Having in mind the necessity of supervision of election controversies, through the National Labor Board on February 1st of this year President Roosevelt, in accordance with the authority of the Recovery Act, issued an executive order empowering the Board to conduct an election whenever it determined that a substantial number of employees had requested such an election. The order further provided that the Board should announce the results of the election and that the representatives of a majority of the employees, or any specific group of them, were to be the agents of the workers in the conduct of collective bargaining. Four days later General Johnson, the administrator, and Donald Richberg, the administration's counsel released a joint statement to the effect that—"the selection of majority representatives does not restrict or qualify in any way the right of minority groups of employees or of individual employees to deal with their employer." This contradiction in interpretation has been a constant source of irritation, not only to those charged with administering the Act but also to Industry and Labor alike. The National Labor Board itself has not been consistent, when confronted with the thorny problem of minority representation. The Act does not in terms adopt the majority rule. It is difficult to see how proportionate representation if construed to require unanimous consent on the part of the groups represented, escapes the old evils of multiple bargaining. Strict minority representation divides labor and permits the employer to play one group against the other. The A. F. of L., naturally enough, is insistent on the right of the majority to act for all the workers. Such a ruling enables a Union to prevail and consolidate its status after winning but one election. Where the industrial enterprise is a complicated one, where the groups are numerous and when organized, none too friendly, the orthodox craft Unionism appears to be entirely inadequate under majority rule. It is in situations of this nature that vertical Unions so-called, that is where all the employees of a given plant are members of a single Union appear to give real hope of substantially fair representation and orderly collective bargaining. Detailed legislation, preferably through administrative rulings, is essential if even approximate fairness of representation is to be achieved. It is a source of much regret to labor idealists that the odium attached to the phrase "Company Union" makes it difficult to convince labor of the essential difference between a true Company Union and a Company dominated Union. In any event it is extremely doubtful if the present law, even with the executive order of the President, permits a safe interpretation for the complicated question of majority vs. minority representation in large industries.

The executive order in regard to elections, ostensibly aimed at the Weirton and Budd Companies, indicates the deep-seated doubts of the Board executives as to the amount of legal sanction there is to the administration's activities. Control of the election machinery of an industry through some governmental agency is absolutely indispensable. The question of who shall bargain is very often the core of a labor dispute. The determination of this question must be in the hands of an impartial body interested only in the freedom of expression and the accuracy of the choice. The National Labor Board and the Regional Labor Boards have been unusually successful in this department. They have developed a technique which satisfied both groups as to fairness and accuracy. The conduct of the Coal Mine election throughout a great industry in hundreds of localities, without any disorder and with unanimous approval of the methods used, was a remarkable achievement. The conspicuous success of these elections is the most convincing argument for continued government action in this field.

Much of the N. R. A. in its present form must be changed. The government must yield its heated enthusiasm to cold reality. There are so many things which the law cannot do efficiently. Planned economy in the sense of strict governmental supervision of all Commerce and Industry is attainable only where society is politically organized under a dictator. In a democracy with a tradition of genuine freedom, it is doubly important that we never forget the costly lesson of prohibition—to-wit: that there are practical limits to effective legal action. In the large interstate industries the benefits of the Code and the ease of enforcement have been so apparent that their continuance confidently can be predicted. The danger from monopolies and their chief evil, price-fixing, will require a large measure of government control. This particular problem will have political repercussions for many years to come. In the smaller industries, however, the alternative to orderly retreat is a vexatious bureaucracy. There are signs that President Roosevelt already is beginning the "process of liquidation."

The labor provisions of the N. R. A. are here to stay and to be strengthened. Here, within reasonable limits, the law can expect to secure enforcement. Liberal legislation affecting hours of labor, minimum wages, working conditions and the right to organize for purposes of collective bargaining, have had and will have the support of the large majority of the citizens of this country. In this support there is a guarantee of workability. It is to be hoped that organized labor will respond to its new opportunities with dignity and fairness; that they will show that they possess qualities of adaptability and awareness to the need of change; that their internal discipline or the lack of it will not be allowed to hinder the cause of the worker; that they will not be unduly sensitive to fair criticism of their methods and of the details of their organization.

In appraising the N. R. A.—that part which will perish and that part which will survive—take it at the lowest estimate of its most carping critic, with the phobia of a Dr. Wirt or the maniacal zeal of a Darrow, this legislation, nevertheless, represents a courageous attempt to use the power of the State to achieve the commercial morality which religion counsels and which religion would bring about if, in this country, it had real vitality. In the labor provisions of the Recovery Act, we Catholics must be impressed by the striking similarity of ideas between it and the encyclicals of Pope Leo XIII. In the social justice they envisage, these documents are one.

BOSTON COLLEGE STYLUS EDITORIAL STAFF

1908-09

Seated left to right: JOHN J. SULLIVAN, '09,
JOHN J. SAVAGE, '09, CHARLES A. BIRMINGHAM, '10.

Standing left to right: REV. DAVID B. WATERS, '11, REV. STEPHEN J. CHAMBERLIN, '10, REV. ANDREW J. WHITE, '09, JOHN P. MANSING, '09, REV. JOHN J. PHELAN, '12, and REV. JOHN W. MAHONEY, '09.

The Fifty-Seventh Commencement

HON. JOHN A. MATTHEWS

Honorable John A. Matthews, A. M., LL. D., Ph. D., of South Orange, New Jersey, will deliver the address to the graduating class at the Commencement exercises at University Heights Wednesday afternoon, June 13th.

Mr. Matthews, although born in Malden, Massachusetts, is a prominent attorney in Newark, New Jersey. He was graduated from St. Charles College, Maryland, where he received an A. B. degree in 1901.

In 1903 he was graduated from St. John's Philosophy House, Brighton, Mass., and from the New Jersey Law School in 1911 with the degree of LL. D. He was a teacher of criminal law at the Mercer Beasley School of Law, Newark, New Jersey. He has been active and prominent nationally in Knights of Columbus circles.

Mr. Matthews is married, has seven children and makes his home in South Orange, New Jersey.

* * *

ALUMNI DINNER

The annual alumni dinner will take place following the baseball game with Holy Cross and the annual meeting of the alumni members. The committee in charge has arranged an extensive program and will have as guests, His Eminence, William Cardinal O'Connell, '81, who is this year celebrating his fiftieth anniversary of his ordination to the holy priesthood; Mr. Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of Labor in the cabinet of President Roosevelt and Rev. Louis J. Gallagher, S. J., president of Boston College.

The largest gathering at a dinner in the history of the alumni is expected. The cost is $2.00. All members are urged to attend and renew old friendships. For those unable to attend the baseball game in the afternoon there will be ample time for them to arrive at University Heights before 7 o'clock which is the time dinner will be served. It will be served promptly at that hour, the committee announces.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

TEMPUS fugit! It seems hardly possible that twenty-five years have elapsed since the class of 1909 passed from the historic and classic halls of its Alma Mater. As one reminisces, Commencement Day appears as though it were but yesterday. Yet when classmates gather and recall incidents that happened in college days, and notice the changes that have taken place in the lives of members of the class since graduation, then they realize that a long time has gone by.

Originally, the class of 1909 consisted of fifty-five members, but after a period of four years, at Commencement, thirty members of the original fifty-five completed the college course.

During our college course the late beloved and scholarly Father Gasson, S. J., one of our professors, was appointed to the Presidency of the College. His remarkable vision and foresight in the selection of the site at University Heights and his plan for a group of buildings of Gothic architecture, the first of which was erected during his regime, are magnificent tributes to his memory as a priest and educator.

The officers of 1909 were William J. Cronin, President; Raymond E. Sullivan, Vice President; Eugene Dorr was Treasurer, and John P. Manning, Jr., was Secretary.

More than one-third of the class became priests, the

COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM

Sunday, June 10th

BACCALAUREATE SERMON

Church of the Immaculate Conception
by

Reverend Florence W. McCarthy, '09
7.30 P. M.

Monday, June 11th

ALUMNI DAY

BASEBALL

Boston College vs. Holy Cross
3 P. M.

Election of Alumni Officers 5.30 P. M.

ALUMNI BANQUET 7 P. M.

Tuesday, June 12th

CLASS DAY EXERCISES

3.30 P. M.

Wednesday, June 13th

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

at University Heights
4 P. M.

most prominent of whom is the Most Reverend Gerald Shaughnessy, S. M., S. T. D., Bishop of Seattle, Washington, whose writings and translations became so outstanding that he received recognition from the Holy See at Rome, and was elevated to the hierarchy of the Church.

Also prominent among the clergy of the class, who left after Junior year and joined the Jesuit order, was our beloved deceased classmate, Mr. Henry P. McGlinchey, S. J.

The other members of the class who took Holy Orders were Rev. Eugene P. Cryne, Rev. John C. O'Connell, S. J., Rev. Henry M. Tattan, Rev. Bernard S. O'Kane, Rev. Andrew J. White, Rev. Florence W. McCarthy, Rev. Myles J. McSwiney, Rev. John W. Mahoney, Rev. Thomas W. Buckley, deceased, and Rev. James T. Sliney, deceased.

Among the other graduates were William J. Cronin, attorney, now deceased, our class President; Dr. Edward B. Sheehan, a graduate of Harvard Medical School, is one of the most prominent and successful surgeons and gynecologists in Boston, and at one time was the physician for the B. C. football team; Dr. George A. Murray, who won a scholarship at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and later, after finishing his studies at Tech, took up the study of medicine, became a doctor, and for several years was associated with the clinic of the famous Mayo Brothers of Minnesota. He is now a successful practising physician in Boston; Edward F. Coleman, who, like Dr. George A. Murray, won a scholarship at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, became a recognized engineer in road building construction.

John J. Sullivan is Boston Branch Manager of the Standard Surety and Casualty Company of New York.

Maurice A. McLaughlin is a master in the Lawrence High School; John P. Manning, Jr., is a practising attorney in Boston. Joseph I. Whalen now is sub-master of the Wendell Phillips School. John J. Savage is now Professor of English Literature at Seton Hall College, New Jersey.

Daniel D. Donovan, who later graduated from Harvard Law School, is now Professor of Bills and Notes at Boston College Law School; Eugene Dorr, a class officer and honor student, is master of the Washington School in Boston; Dr. M. George Milan is now superintendent of a medical clinic in Minnesota. Arthur P. Suprenant graduated from Harvard Law School, and has since been practising law in Pawtucket, Rhode Island. Raymond E. Sullivan is a practising attorney in Boston. He was formerly professor of Jurisprudence to the Senior class at Boston College from 1923 to 1927. George F. Lee is attendance officer of the Lowell School Department. Dennis F. Sullivan, a former Boston school teacher, is now connected with one of the municipal departments of the City of Boston.

Other members of the class who have died since graduation are William H. Ryan, formerly sub-master of the Wendell Phillips School, Peter A. Landrigan, formerly a teacher in the Mather School in Dorchester, later died in service during the World War; Francis C. Smith passed away shortly after graduation while engaged in business in Boston.

Among the former members of the class were Rev. James E. Leavey, S. J., and Rev. Aloysius Minter Tibbets, S. J., the former of St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia, and the latter of Fordham University, New York, both of whom left college and joined the Jesuit order after their Sophomore year; and Rev. Francis J. Connell, C. SS. R., of Esopus, New York, who joined the Redemptorist order after his Freshman year. Father James A. Lynch, who together with Father John J. Flynn, entered St. John's Seminary, Brighton, Mass. The former is administrator of the Sacred Heart Parish, Weymouth, Mass., and the latter is assistant at the Sacred Heart Church, Newton. Dr. James E. Gibbons, D. D. S., who left after sophomore year to enter Harvard Dental School, is now president of the Harvard Dental School Alumni Association. Robert S. McMorro is engaged in the insurance business in Boston. John J. Corcoran, who is likewise in the field of insurance in Boston, has a son now a junior at Boston College. Peter L. Fox, brother of Rev. John M. Fox, S. J., former President of Holy Cross, is now associated with the Massachusetts Income Tax Department. Charles F. Logue is prominent as a director, titlist and producer in Hollywood, California. Luke Shields, now deceased, was formerly a prominent official of the city of Boston. Arthur McCormick, who later transferred to Holy Cross College, Edwin Corkery, Daniel Kelley, Jeremiah Moynihan, George Baldwin and Edward Shea.

On this event, the silver jubilee of the class of 1909, its members look back with appreciation and pride to their professors through whose untiring and zealous efforts the foundation was laid for the blessings, success and careers of the class.

Salve Alma Mater!

R. E. S., '09.

* * *

TWENTY YEARS

THE Editor of Alumnus has manifested a little curiosity concerning the twenty-year class, and has requested a brief review of its history and present standing. The class is not so overborne with pride as to think that the world at large, or even the Alumni in general, are better informed than the Editor; hence the following report is offered in pure humility, even though it be a record of some fair success.

The class was first organized in 1910, and spent the subsequent three years in the old college building at James St., in Boston. Then, in the fall of 1913, it began its senior year at the Heights; thus being the first commencement class to have spent a full year under the Tower. It attained the usual distinctions during its scholastic training. It had its share, and more, of speakers and actors and athletes, together with a few who attained high marks in class. Of all this there is now no need to speak.

Armed with the sheepskin of bachelors of arts, the class set forth in 1914 to carve a place in the world. Forty-five strong (and that was strong in those days!) they scattered: two to the Jesuits, sixteen to the secular clergy, four to the law, five to teaching, four to newspaper work, three to medicine, and ten into a variety of occupations which can be summarized as business.

The class has been quite consistent in meeting two or three times a year. The result is that the status of almost all the members is pretty well known. The two Jesuits have taught at Boston College, and so, in some degree, have transmitted to later classes the spirit and the ideals of 1914. Fourteen of those who sought admittance to the secular clergy were ordained,—one having died just previous to the date on which he too would have been raised to the priesthood. Twelve of this group have carried the message and the sacraments of Christ to the faithful in every section of the diocese; two were assigned, after special studies, to the diocesan Seminary; one was early selected to work in the Catholic Charities Bureau of the Archdiocese, and is at present the director of the Bureau.

The lay members of the class have likewise found secure and honorable places for themselves. Of the lawyers, one is well-known to all Boston as an Assistant-District-Attorney, who uses some of the wit and fire and eloquence of student days in the prosecution of important trials in Suffolk County. One of the teachers is in demand as a speaker and lecturer. One of the business men is a federal officer, Receiver of Internal Revenue in a city south of Boston. The rest are less known to the public, but each does his work, and is favorably known in his own community and circle. Your reporter has not on hand any accurate statistics concerning marriages and families; but he knows one family of eight children, another of seven, and others still with more than the statistical two and one half average. It is quite definite that names which were honored by a degree of 1914 will reappear in the classes of the forties.

Some report should be made of the "ex-14" men. Although they did not stay to take their degree in 1914, they too have, through the years, done honor to the college and the class. Through members of this group, 1914 is known to the Benedictine and Dominican monks. Many are in the secular priesthood, and two or three among the Jesuit fathers. Many of this group are frequenters of the class dinners,—and all are hereby cordially invited to rejoin their former classmates.

One last fond word may here be written in memory of five of the class who have in these twenty years passed on to an eternal,—and we are sure, a happy,—judgment: Rev. Thomas P. Frawley, Arthur L. Garrity, Austin R. Keenan, Peter P. McGrath, and Rev. Leo M. Murray, S. T. L., J. C. L. Requiescant in pace. M., '14

* * *

TEN YEARS

ON June 19th, 1924, we of Boston College, who hearken to that glorious sounding call "Noblesse Oblige" took our leave of dear old Alma Mater with cherished sheepskin in hand, proud sons of Boston College, sealed forever as her children.

Ten years have fled their way beyond us. Yes, men of '24, our tenth anniversary comes to us anon. Some may know ten years have passed by the creaking joints that hee haw at them as they seek to carry on in youthful fashion. Some may know ten years have passed as they battled the buffetings of a rough world. Some may know ten years have passed by the bright glories that have been theirs.

For us all many times our thoughts have taken us over our college days. We have relived many of those dramatic hours and days in spirit. Now is our time to crystalize them in real fashion in their original setting at the Heights on Alumni Day, June 11th, 1934.

"Noblesse Oblige" for the men of '24 is a bugle call to action. Just as in those days of eager youth that call drove us on as individuals and as a class to do our part manfully in collegiate activity, it calls now for Alumni activity.

In Freshman we earnestly took part in the college drive under the spiritual leadership of our great president, Rev. William Devlin, S. J., with the friendly counsel of our Dean Rev. Patrick J. McHugh, S. J., and with our understanding disciplinarian Rev. John P. Fitzpatrick, S. J. Also we were aided by the sincere and practical advice of our Freshman Faculty.

In Sophomore we carried on against the rushing challenge of a heavy onslaught of weighty books and mysterious test tubes, all the while under the guidance of a spiritual and colorful faculty.

In Junior—now we were college men of social standing and éclat; we were concerned immediately with the philosophy of life. We proved to Haechel, Schelling, Schopenhauer, Spinoza, Leibnitz and others that theirs was a temporal and a passing fancy or hallucination and to ourselves we unfolded even the mysteries of substance and accidents, of prime matter and substantial form. We realized that the sun could pierce the clouds. We focused our minds on the philosophic difficulties of a weary world, only to see those clouds dispersed by a stronger force,—our light of reason.

Soon we were raised to the majestic state of Senior. Now we were blessed with privileges to distinguish majors and challenge minors, to unravel the moral tangles of a modern morality in conflict with the proven code of God and Church.

In all our hours, days, and years of college life we were lifted to high parts by our class call "Noblesse Oblige." We welcomed every call to college duty. We answered all according to our talents. The result was a real united group of Boston College men—the Class of 1924.

Now we hear again "Noblesse Oblige." We have heard it ringing out to us in the years that have passed. We hear it ringing out today stronger than ever, calling all men of '24 from far and near. The message of that call is "Come—Unite—Celebrate in true festive manner as strongly feathered eagles of a decade's growth." Renew the friendships of our early days, regale ourselves with the love of our past glories, fill up our hearts again at the source with the fire of those fond days, and make the welkin ring with "Noblesse Oblige."

F. X. B., '24.

* * *

FIVE YEARS

FIVE years have passed so quickly that it seems entirely unnecessary to recall the undergraduate years of 1929. However, the editor of Alumnus insists upon it, our classmates should enjoy it and the alumni generally may be interested.

When the applications for admission to Boston College in 1925 had been approved, more than 400 men assembled to elect Bill Flynn as class president. Altho divided into sections for scholastic purposes the unity of the class was not destroyed.

Our first real joy came when the varsity defeated the sons of Holy Cross on the gridiron 17 to 6. We liked the experience so well that we determined then and there that the Purple would have no football victories while 1929 was at the Heights. To follow up our athletic warfare with the Crusaders we split a two game baseball series, Holy Cross winning the first game at Worcester, 3 to 0 and Boston College winning the second at University Heights 2 to 1.

Our tranquil spring of freshman days was disturbed one pleasant afternoon by the roar of the fire apparatus of the City of Newton invading our campus. Fire broke out in the roof of the new library building, then under construction. The class of 1929, with the assistance of the other classes and the Newton Fire Department brought the flames under control, prevented a conflagration and saved the library for future Boston College men.

After re-electing Bill Flynn to lead us through sophomore we carried out our freshman pledge of no Holy Cross football victories at our expense. The game ended in a scoreless tie. Our hearts were saddened with the announcement that Major Frank W. Cavanaugh was to leave us to go to Fordham. We surely missed his dominating personality at University Heights. Alumni Field did not seem the same without him.

In the spring of the sophomore year we swept the entire Holy Cross baseball series, winning all three games.

Our junior year started very auspiciously when we left early in the football season to pay a visit to our friends in New York and engage the Fordham team with its new and our former coach. The trip over on the boat the night before the game was one of the high lights in the social life of the class. Al Weston gave the spectators one of those "it happens every million years" thrills when he took the opening kick-off and ran through the entire Fordham team for a touchdown. Boston College was the victor 27 to 7 and the only touch of unpleasantness in the whole afternoon was that we had to do it to "Cav." The class enjoyed thoroughly a Saturday night on Broadway. A great season was completed by a victory over Holy Cross 6 to 0. We had not violated our freshman pledge.

During the winter season the Dramatic Club presented "Pals First" at the Fine Arts Theatre. It was a splendid success. In the spring the library building, saved on a previous occasion from destruction by fire by the efforts of the men of 1929, was dedicated.

Our senior year was gloriously climaxed by a succession of events the elaboration of which space does not permit. The Fulton Debating Society scored notable victories over such opponents as Oxford, Sidney and Harvard. The football team was both undefeated and untied, against such opposition as Navy, Duke, Fordham and Holy Cross. Our freshman pledge was fulfilled. Holy Cross had not tasted victory against our varsity football teams.

To the men of the class we make this plea. Come out to the Heights Alumni Day, June 11th. Renew association with the men who studied beside you and played with you. Relax for the day. The class and the alumni want you. Your presence will help build up an Alumni Day worthy of the name.

C., '20

FARREN CURTIS PRESS

152 Purchase Street, Boston, Mass.

Printers of Booklets, Folders and Circulars

MAY WE SERVE YOU?

ON THE HEIGHTS

ALUMNI DEFEATS VARSITY NINE

THE varsity baseball team has been enjoying one of the best seasons in the history of the sport at University Heights and it is the regret of Alumnus that the entire season's record cannot be tabulated at this time. However, we are hopeful for a conclusion as auspicious as the beginning of the season.

Coach Frank McCrehan, '25, has instilled a splendid spirit into the boys, besides giving them the benefit of his vast baseball knowledge. One thing the coach has neglected to do. Although he has instructed the batters well regarding what they should do against the offerings of the pitchers of Northeastern, Fordham, B. U. Harvard Grads, Williams, Providence and others, he has failed utterly in his ability to show them how to hit a former varsity star and the present coach of the Boston College varsity.

The Alumni nine, with 1920 taking honors, in having the oldest representative in point of college years on the nine in the person of Bill Dempsey toyed with the undergrads for eight innings and then proceeded to give them a lesson in a fighting finish. Although Harry Lane pitched a beautiful game for eight innings, the strength and experience of the Alumni asserted itself in the ninth when they bunched three hits and accepted a couple of bases on balls to score three runs. Varsity football coach Joe McKenney made victory certain in the ninth with a single to left center, scoring Spognardi and Foley.

* * *

McMANUS N. E. DASH CHAMPION

Captain John McManus, by his performances this past season, takes his place among the immortals of the Boston College track world. Johnny as a result of his double win at the New England Intercollegiates, held at Springfield, became the New England Intercollegiate champion for both the 100 and 220 yard dashes. He was one of the very few double winners at the meeting.

At the 58th annual meeting of the Intercollegiate A. A. A. A. held May 26th, at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, Johnny placed second in the 100 metre final being led to the tape only by "Bullet" Bob Keisel, University of California sprint star, who was forced to equal the meet record in order to gain a victory over the sole entry from Boston College.

* * *

GRADUATE SCHOOL

Rev. John F. Doherty, S. J., Dean of the Boston College Graduate School has announced that approximately 125 Master's degrees and eight Doctor's degrees will be awarded at Commencement June 13th.

NOT BAD, EH!

B. C. ALUMNI

	ab	bh	po	a
Patten, 1st.....	4	1	11	0
Horan, 2d.....	3	0	2	3
Spognardi, s.....	4	1	2	1
Foley, 3d.....	3	0	2	3
McKenney, lf.....	4	1	2	0
Dempsey, cf.....	4	2	5	1
Gleason, r.....	3	0	1	0
Kelley, c.....	4	0	1	1
McCrehan, p.....	4	0	1	1
Totals.....	33	5	27	10

BOSTON COLLEGE

	ab	bh	po	a
O'Flaherty, s.....	4	1	2	7
Freitas, 2d.....	4	1	2	2
Kittredge, 1st.....	3	0	12	0
Boehoner, cf.....	4	0	0	0
Concannon, 3d.....	4	0	0	0
Pgluccia, lf.....	4	2	0	0
Curran, r.....	4	1	3	0
Ready, c.....	3	0	8	0
Lane, p.....	3	0	0	1
Totals.....	33	5	27	10

Alumni..... 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 3—3
Runs—Patten, Spognardi, Foley. Errors—Foley 2.
Horan. Stolen bases—Spognardi, Foley. Sacrifice hit—
Horan. Base on balls—Off Lane 2, off McCrehan 1.
Struck out—By McCrehan 1, by Lane 5. Double play—
Dempsey to Patten. Umpire—Fitzgerald. Time—1 h.
40 m.

* * *

CLASS OF 1935 ELECTIONS

The results of the elections, of the class of 1935 recently held have been announced. Francis R. Liddell was chosen president for the third consecutive time; Joseph J. Curran, vice-president; Lawrence Riley, secretary; Thomas Kelly, treasurer and Henry Ohrenberger, student representative on the Athletic Association.

* * *

PHILOMATHEIA SCHOLARSHIP FUND BRIDGE

Mrs. Vincent P. Roberts, president of the Philomatheia Club will open her summer home in North Scituate, Monday, July 9, 1934, for a bridge party in aid of the Boston College Scholarship Fund which the Club has sponsored for many years. A large attendance is expected.

TESTIMONIAL DINNER TO FATHER SULLIVAN

The members of the varsity football team sponsored a testimonial dinner to Rev. Francis V. Sullivan, S. J., in the assembly hall of the Tower Building, May 15th. The gathering was well attended and a tribute worthy of the man was paid the guest of honor.

Mr. Frank McCrehan, '25, varsity baseball coach, acted as toastmaster in the absence of Joseph McKenney, '27, varsity football coach.

The speakers were, Rev. Louis J. Gallagher, S. J., president of Boston College, Rev. Patrick J. McHugh, S. J., Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, Mr. John P. Curley, '13, graduate manager of athletics, Mr. John M. Tobin, '19, president of the Boston College Alumni Association, Mr. Joseph A. Scolponeti, '16, chairman of the Graduate Board of Athletics, Mr. John A. Ryder, varsity track coach and Mr. John S. Kelly, '28, hockey coach.

* * *

FULTON MEDAL WINNER

Mr. John L. Roach, '34, was awarded a gold medal, the gift of Mrs. Vincent P. Roberts at the 45th annual debate of the Fulton Debating Society held recently in the auditorium of the Tower Building at University Heights.

The judges were Mr. Edward A. Hogan, '30, winner of the medal in his senior year, Mr. Charles A. Hayden, '27, and Mr. William F. Glynn, '29.

* * *

YEAR BOOK

On May 14, 1934, one day earlier than originally planned the editor and his assistants presented to the class of 1934 "Sub Turri" the annual year book. It is the first time in the history of Boston College classes that the annual year book has been presented to its class before the date determined. To A. Marcus Lewis, '34, and his associates great credit is due.

The book, an improvement on the efforts of any other class since the publication of "Sub Turri" is a remarkable volume. The class of 1934 has dedicated "Sub Turri" to the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences Rev. Patrick J. McHugh, S. J.

To every member of the class of 1934 one full page is devoted. This page contains a photograph, an account of the accomplishments of the individual, his undergraduate history and a prognostication.

Including the record of individual accomplishments the book contains photographs of the administration officers and faculty of the college, citations and cartoons. There is adequate space devoted to sports, including football, track, baseball and hockey. Leading each athletic section is a remarkable drawing of each captain. The various photographs of intimate campus scenes are worthy of an art collection. Facsimiles of the Heights and Stylus are contained in the volume for future reminiscence.

A section of the book is devoted to organizations. The Graduate Board and Student Athletic Association lead this section. All organizations, alumni and undergraduate are included.

More than six hundred pages are devoted to Boston College men and their activities. The class of 1934 has every reason to be proud of its "Sub Turri."

* * *

BOSTON COLLEGE 77-HOLY CROSS 58

For the first time in seven years the Boston College varsity track team conquered its formidable and ancient foe from Worcester, 77 to 58. The meet as a whole was very close, especially in the running events. Boston College showed unexpected strength in the field events and victory, as a result of that showing, was certain. As a preliminary to the varsity competition the Crusader Cubs defeated the Boston College freshmen 69 to 57 in spite of the splendid performances of Don McKee, freshman ace who took first place in the 100, 220 and quarter mile events for a total of 15 points. Coach Jack Ryder will welcome Donald with open arms to the varsity next fall.

Captain John McManus of the varsity, altho edged out of first place in the 100 by Tom Gilligan of Holy Cross, came back strong in the furlong to win with ease. John E. Joyce, '35, of Dorchester, was right along side of his captain in both events. Bill Parks, wearing the maroon and gold and Tim Ring of the purple provided the thrill of the meeting in the quarter. Ring staved off the final challenge of Parks to take the event.

Dimmy Zaitz, stalwart football guard, took two firsts by winning the shot put and the discus. Neal Holland, Bill Hayes, Johnny Powers, Gordon Connors and Bernie Moynahan all contributed to the success of the Eagles by gathering firsts in their respective events.

* * *

EAGLE TRACK MEN ELECT JOYCE

John E. Joyce, '35, of Dorchester was elected captain of the Boston College track team for the coming season at a recent meeting of the lettermen held at University Heights. The new captain is a dash man and succeeds Captain John McManus, '34, New England Intercollegiate Champion in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Joyce earned his varsity letter in his sophomore year by placing fourth in the 100 yard dash and third in the 220 in the New England Intercollegiates. This year he was forced out of competition early in the meet by the unfortunate pulling of a tendon in the semi-finals of the century.

In indoor competition the captain-elect is a member of Coach Ryder's one mile relay group. He prepared for Boston College at Boston Latin School.

At the same election Robert L. Quinn, '35, of Dorchester, was elected track manager.

CARDINAL HEADS LIBRARY BOARD

His Eminence, William Cardinal O'Connell, '81, was elected president of the board of trustees of the Boston Public Library at the annual meeting of the board, held recently. Cardinal O'Connell has served on the board of trustees for the past two years having been appointed to that position by former Mayor James M. Curley to succeed the late Rt. Rev. Arthur T. Connolly.

* * *

BOSTON COLLEGE CLUB OF CAMBRIDGE

The Boston College Club of Cambridge held a most successful supper dance on the evening of May 11, 1934, at the Hotel Continental, Cambridge. A large membership and many classmates from other sections of Boston held what turned out to be a Boston College alumni reunion. John L. Delaney, '28, was chairman of the general committee.

Mr. William F. Foley, '24, president has obtained from the Club permission to contribute to Alumnus in the form of two full page advertisements. Alumnus is very grateful and recommends this good example to other Boston College Clubs.

* * *

BOSTON COLLEGE CLUB OF WATERTOWN

Boston College men of Watertown recently organized to devote their efforts in the furtherance of the interests of Boston College and what it stands for in Watertown. The organization meeting resulted in the election of the following officers: Reverend Daniel C. Riordan, P. P., '79; honorary president; Francis X. Mooney, '24, president; Thomas Blake, '34, varsity football star, vice-president; Donald J. MacDonald, '35, secretary and Francis A. Kelley, '24, treasurer.

Due to the efforts devoted to organization and the stimulation of interest among the Boston College men of Watertown no active program is planned for the balance of this season. However, a vigorous program of activity is planned for the 1934-35 season. The club has endorsed the efforts of Alumnus for the unification of the alumni and promises not only moral, but financial support at a later date.

* * *

BOSTON COLLEGE CLUB OF WEST ROXBURY

"Gold in the Hills," melodramatic effort of members of the 1933 varsity football team, was presented for the fourth time successfully before a large audience at the Washington Irving School, Roslindale, May 16th, under the auspices of the Boston College Club of West Roxbury. On previous occasions the play was presented before large and enthusiastic audiences in the auditorium of the Boston College Library.

The success of the endeavor was due largely to the efforts of Mr. William T. Miller, '04, who acted as chairman of the committee and his assistants, William Long, '98, John Coveney, '01, Frank Roland, '19, Robert Brawley, '20 and J. Burke Sullivan, '24.

The Club plans to devote a part of the proceeds to the success of Alumnus.

POWERFUL PENN

INDUSTRIAL and DOMESTIC

FUEL OILS

Fuel Contracts for 1934-1935 Season Now Available. Tel. Somerset 8510

PENNSYLVANIA OIL COMPANY

Terminal at Somerville, Mass.

JAMES C. SCANLAN, Treasurer

Sales Representative, JOSEPH C. WHITE, '20

THOMAS P. CONLAN, Fordham '30

Law School

Activities

FIRST ANNUAL LAW CLUB COMPETITION

On Thursday evening, May 3, the final argument in the law club competition was held in the library of the Law School. Teams representing the Taney Law Club and the Marshall Law Club participated in the trial of a case on appeal before the supreme court of the Bostonia Competition. The members of the court were three justices of the Superior Court of Massachusetts who were invited to serve upon this occasion. They were Honorable Franklin T. Hammond, Honorable Wilford D. Gray, and Honorable John E. Swift. Upon the completion of the argument the decision of the court was rendered in favor of the Taney Club, Francis E. Harrington and Charles H. McCue, solicitors for the complainant. The solicitors for the respondent were Joseph L. Breen and Lawrence G. Healey of the Marshall Club.

The clubs in the final argument were selected after a series of inter-club arguments conducted during the course of the year. The winning club was awarded a prize of two hundred dollars, the gift jointly of the Very Reverend Louis J. Gallagher, S. J., President of Boston College and of Judge John E. Swift, '99 of the Supreme Court.

Francis E. Harrington entered the Law School in September, 1931, after completing his college work in the Junior College course of Boston College while Charles H. McCue graduated from Boston College in the class of 1931. Joseph L. Breen is a graduate of Providence College and Lawrence G. Healey is a graduate of Holy Cross. All four participants are members of the third year class in the evening division of the Law School.

Over two hundred persons representing students from Boston College and neighboring law schools and members of the legal profession attended the trial. Professor Cornelius J. Moynihan is in charge of the work of the law clubs assisted by the following attorneys: William J. Kelliher, Frederick A. McDermott, Henry M. Leen, Albert L. Hyland, Albert B. Mannix, Anthony Julian, Paul A. Troy, P. Gerard Cahill, Daniel A. Lynch, Edward C. Lee, Jeremiah W. Mahoney and Joseph R. Rooney.

* * *

LAW SCHOOL ALUMNI DINNER

The first dinner of the newly formed association of the graduates of the Law School was held at the Boston Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday evening, May 15th. As a precedent for future years the affair was in the form of a reception to the seniors who are about to graduate from the Law School. A large delegation of students from each class in the Law School attended. The greetings of the Alumni were conveyed by the president, Frederick V. McMenimen. The toastmaster, Edward U. Lee, then presented Henry M. Leen as the representative of the first class to graduate from the Law School. Thomas W. Lawless and John W. McIntire responded for the seniors. The invited guests and speakers at the dinner were Rev. John B. Creeden, S. J., Regent, Dean Dennis A. Dooley and Professors Walter L. Morris and Cornelius J. Moynihan.

The law school alumni association will number over one hundred members with the addition of the class to graduate in June and plans are under way for a series of professional meetings to be held next winter. The officers of the association are Frederick V. McMenimen, president; George L. McKim, vice-president; Stanley A. Bowker, treasurer and William D. Tribble, secretary.

* * *

LAW PROFESSORS AT WASHINGTON MEETING

Four members of the faculty of the Law School attended the recent meeting of the American Law Institute at the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C. Dean Dennis A. Dooley and Professors Francis J. Carney, Franklin T. Hammond, Jr. and John A. Canavan represented the Boston College Law School. Other Bostonians in attendance were Chief Justice Arthur P. Rugg and Justices Crosby and Lummus of the Supreme Court, Dean Roscoe Pound and Professors Beale and Scott of the Harvard Law School, Dean Homer Albers of the Law School of Boston University, Chairman William Harold Hitchcock, Horace C. Taft and William Beckwith of the Board of Bar Examiners, Joseph C. O'Connell of the executive committee of the American Bar Association and George R. Nutter, chairman of the committee on legal education of the Boston Bar Association.

* * *

FORMER B. C. PROFESSOR APPOINTED DEAN

Professor Lewis C. Cassidy of the faculty of the Georgetown Law School and formerly professor of law at Boston College has been appointed dean of the law school at the University of San Francisco. Dean Cassidy will assume his new duties in August when the school opens the Fall term. He will be accompanied to California by Professor John D. O'Reilly, LL.B., Boston College, 1932. Professor O'Reilly has just completed one year of teaching at the law school of the University of San Francisco and he is returning to Boston in June to be married. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. O'Reilly will make their home in San Francisco.

YEAR BOOK AT LAW SCHOOL

A year book called "Sui Juris" will be published this year for the first time by the students of the senior class of the Law School. John W. McIntire, editor-in-chief, is assisted by Thomas W. Lawless, Bernard J. Leddy, William C. Weber, John A. Kelly and John A. Barrett.

* * *

LAW LIBRARY INCREASES

Professor William J. O'Keefe, librarian at the Law School, has added a large number of very valuable books to the library during the past year. It is planned during the summer to bring the total number of volumes over the ten thousand mark. Gifts of law books from graduates of Boston College and friends of the Law School will be greatly appreciated and properly inscribed.

* * *

NEW CLASS ENTERS IN SEPTEMBER

The enrollment of students for the new class which enters the Law School in September is progressing better than in any previous year. The national recognition which has come to the school through its rating as grade A by the American Bar Association and the excellent record made by the graduates in bar examinations have attracted widespread attention. College graduates who are interested in studying law in either the day or the evening schools are invited to communicate with Dean Dennis A. Dooley at the school office, Lawyers Building, 11 Beacon Street, Boston.

The Federal Engraving Company

DESIGNING ENGRAVING
ELECTROTYPING

Day and Night Service

15 East Street Boston, Mass.
CORNER ATLANTIC AVE.

PHYSICS DEPARTMENT

MUCH interest is being manifested in the results of testing a new system of radio transmission by the Physics Department. The idea originally was introduced by Mr. William R. Shanahan as the subject of a thesis for his master's degree. The theory has been developed under the direction of Mr. Gager and with the co-operation of Rev. John A. Tobin, S. J., head of the department.

The system of transmission is new because up to and including the present time all radio transmission has been done on a single phase. The present attempt is to transmit radio waves polyphase, that is, on three phases.

The new development may be explained briefly by saying that the antenna system in use is equivalent to a rotating or phantom antenna revolving at the frequency of transmission.

The resulting scientific problem is to investigate the effect of such a radiating and generating device upon radio transmission. At the present time, as a result of the Boston College experiment the new mode of generation and method of radiation of energy has been accomplished. The plane of polarization of the transmitted signal on the single phase system varies from the plane polarized through elliptical to circular polarized waves. It is of scientific interest to determine the effect of the polarization upon the reliability and distance of transmission.

In order to determine this an apparatus was necessary. The construction and erection of this has taken nearly a year. The result is the sturdy, white tower on the roof of the Science Building.

The new device has been put into operation on a frequency within the amateur 56-60 megacycle (million cycle) band. Several months will be required to determine properly the effects of the new type of antenna. The 56-60 megacycle band was selected as a test frequency due to the comparatively inexpensive equipment required.

The main problem centers about the effect of the three phase transmission on the observed effects of single phase transmission. The new Boston College transmitter is firing waves at the Kennelly-Heaviside layer with polarization varying from circular in a vertical direction to elliptical at any angle off the vertical. In the horizontal plane waves are plane polarized.

It is hoped that a study during the summer months will produce the effects of polyphase versus single phase transmission. It is hoped also that polyphase transmission may reduce fading effects, produce a less directional signal transmission and perhaps cover greater distances more effectively.

When data has been collected on the 56-60 megacycle band the same study will be made on the 28-30 megacycle band which covers greater distances.

FOR LEISURE READING

THE SON OF GOD. By Karl Adam. London. Sheed & Ward. 7s 6d.

One of the most profound and challenging studies of Christ written in recent years.

SUPERSTITION CORNER. By Sheila Kaye-Smith. New York. Harper. $2.50.

May selection of the Catholic Book Club. This is the first historical novel from the pen of Sheila Kaye-Smith. However, in this departure she has not forsaken beloved Sussex wherein is laid the scene of this story written against the background of Elizabethan persecutions.

BOSCOBEL AND OTHER RIMES. By James J. Daly, S. J. Milwaukee. Bruce. $1.50.

For some years Father Daly has been writing poems for magazines and at last he has submitted to the suggestions of admirers by collecting his verse in a permanent book.

THE UNKNOWN GOD. By Alfred Noyes. London. Sheed & Ward. 7s 6d.

There is a light touch of autobiography in this latest book of Alfred Noyes. "I remember," he writes, "the cold sense of reality, and the deepening shadow of a new loneliness that crept into the mind and heart of one boy of seventeen who began to read Huxley in the last decade of the nineteenth century. Later generations can hardly ever guess at the mental sufferings of the more thoughtful in that time of transition."

FISH ON FRIDAY. By Leonard Feeney, S. J. New York. Sheed & Ward. $1.50.

This is Father Feeney's first prose book. There are fourteen selections, the first of which is FISH ON FRIDAY, and all sparkle with his simple humor—a humor which has gathered for the author a legion of ardent admirers.

FIDDLER OF LOURDES AND OTHER VAGABOND TALES. By John Gibbons. London. Burns, Oates & Washbourne. 3s 6d.

Entertaining sketches of Lourdes and other places met in the journeys of the author of such travel records as

A FOOT IN ITALY. John Gibbons is never dull.

MORTON'S FOLLY. By J. B. Morton. Illustrated by Nicolas Bentley. Garden City, New York. Doubleday, Doran, $2.00.

Sketches, poems, anecdotes, and serial narratives of the inimitable Beachcomber, culled from his column of the London Daily Express, these sly and humorous observations are all in accord with the Catholic outlook in morals, philosophy and history.

LIFE OF CARDINAL MERCIER. By John A. Gade. New York. Scribner's Sons. $2.75.

A sympathetic non-Catholic associated with the Cardinal of Malines during the World War writes with charm this well-proportioned biography.

THE CATHOLIC WAY IN EDUCATION. By William J. McGucken, S. J. Milwaukee. Bruce Publishing Co. $1.50.

The author says: "This unpretentious book is not for professional doctors in education." Rather is it written for the Catholic laymen and laywomen who are making such heroic efforts to support Catholic education. The essential Catholic demands and aspirations in education are clearly set forth in a trenchant and a popular style. This book is the first offering of the new Religion and Culture Series published by Bruce, that enterprising Catholic publisher whose releases are playing so prominent a part in the revival of Catholic literature.

NECROLOGY

1892—Rev. James H. Flannery, died May 18, 1934.

Ex-1901—Rev. Charles L. Kimball, S. J., died May 1, 1934.

1927—Leonard Jordan, died April 20, 1934.

Ph. D. 1932—Rev. George F. Strohaber, S. J., died May 18, 1934.

Requiescant in pace.

SAMUEL NARCUS

Stationer

TWO STORES

92 Washington Street

CAP. 8720

230 Washington Street

LAF. 1038

Typewriters

Greeting Cards

CLASSES ON PARADE

CLASS SECRETARIES

The success of "Classes on Parade" and of the entire Alumni Magazine depends upon you. Alumnus has no paid staff to go out and "dig up" the news. It is done by the Editor alone. If a class is neglected in the news columns it is not our fault. We depend on men interested enough in their class, their college and their magazine to send in the news. If an event has taken place the general Alumni are interested in an account of it. If it is to take place then it is to your advantage to let us know about it so that an announcement in Alumnus may stimulate interest. Just a word to the Alumni. Get a live, active, sincere secretary and your class will be outstanding.

CLASS OF 1892

Rev. Mark Madden, former pastor of St. John's Church, Canton, recently was transferred to be pastor of St. John's Church, Winthrop.

CLASS OF 1896

Rev. William S. Condon ex-'96, is pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, Elizabeth, New Jersey, and takes an active interest in the affairs of the Boston College Club of New York.

CLASS OF 1898

Thomas M. Green is associated with the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Rev. Thomas C. Garrahan is pastor of the Star of the Sea Church, East Boston.

CLASS OF 1899

Judge William J. Day was the speaker at the dinner at University Heights on Father's Day, April 19. William J., Jr., is a member of the class of 1934.

CLASS OF 1902

Rev. John T. Meheran, former pastor of St. Mary's Church, East Walpole, is now pastor of St. Catherine's Church, Graniteville.

CLASS OF 1903

Alexander I. Roche, ex-'03, former district attorney of New York County, is engaged in the practice of law with offices at 51 Chambers Street, New York City. He is an active member of the Boston College Club of New York.

CLASS OF 1905

Rev. John J. Cashman, formerly of St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, has been appointed pastor of St. Paul's Church, South Hamilton.

Leonard S. Whelan, choirmaster at St. Paul's Church, Dorchester, was paid a visit recently by Mr. Edward d'Evry, F. T. C. L., F. R. C. O., organist for the past 43 years at Brompton Oratory. On Sunday, May 6th, he attended High Mass at St. Paul's Church and was deeply impressed with the work of the choir. Mr. d'Evry noted the "devotional atmosphere, enhanced by the location of the choir, vested, within the chancel, the first instance of such advance in the Liturgical movement" to come within his observation in New England. The Recessional was chosen in compliment to the distinguished visitor, from his compositions.

CLASS OF 1908

Henry T. Powers is associated with Milton Bradley Company in New York. He is a member of the Boston College Club of New York.

CLASS OF 1909

John J. Savage is head of the English Department at Seton Hall College, South Orange, New Jersey. He is a member of the Boston College Club of New York.

CLASS OF 1910

The class, carrying out the custom of an annual dinner every year since freshman in 1906, gathered at the Parker House on the evening of May 7th. Edward J. O'Brien, M. D., ex-'10, acted as toastmaster.

The following attended. James A. Coveney, who came from New York for the occasion, Louis A. White, Edward J. Hoey, Francis J. O'Hara, Joseph F. Golden, M. D., Edward J. Ryan, Joseph A. Manning, Alphonse Peter, M. D., Rev. Daniel H. Sullivan, S. J., Rev. A. B. Langguth, S. J., Rev. Stephen J. Coen, S. J., William F. Mack, Rev. Gerald L. Dolan and Joseph E. Lynch.

Louis A. White, retiring Grand Knight of John J. Williams Council, Knights of Columbus, Roslindale, was presented recently with a beautiful wrist watch, suitably inscribed, for his efforts during the past year.

Rev. Patrick J. O'Connell is pastor of St. John's Church, Roxbury.

James A. Coveney is associated with the G. A. McDevitt Advertising Agency, 250 Park Avenue, New York City. Jim is one of the charter members of the Boston College Club of New York.

Edward A. Ryan is president of the Ryan Iron Works, Allston, Mass.

Rev. J. Frank Monahan is a chaplain in the United States Army at Fort Benning, Georgia.

CLASS OF 1911

The sympathy of the class is extended to Rev. Daniel F. Burke, S. T. L., of St. Mary's Church, Lynn, upon the death of his mother in Watertown, May 26, 1934.

CLASS OF 1914

The class dined at the University Club on the evening of May 14th. Plans were approved for Alumni Day; attendance at all exercises with arm bands to announce to the assembled world the year of graduation; a small token of affection and gratitude to be presented to the College; with a class meeting at the home of John Keohane to close the day.

The sympathy of the class is offered to Edward Sullivan, John Kapples and Rev. Leo Hughes, O. P. All recently met the sorrow of losing a parent in death.

Rev. Robert P. Barry was appointed recently to be director of the Catholic Charities Bureau of the Archdiocese of Boston. Father Barry served for approximately ten years as assistant director.

CLASS OF 1915

John G. Downey, M. D., has been appointed assistant professor of dermatology at Tufts Medical School. He is the dermatologist at Beth Israel Hospital, Boston, teaching assistant dermatologist at Harvard Medical School and assistant dermatologist at Boston City Hospital. He is also the author of many medical publications.

James M. Linnehan, tire merchant wishes his friends to know that his place of business is located at 35 High Street, Boston. He is not affiliated with any other company using the Linnehan name.

CLASS OF 1916

John E. Hopkins, M. D., is a professor of obstetrics and surgery at Tufts Medical School. His Boston office is at 520 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston.

CLASS OF 1918

Dan Harkins was a member of the entertainment committee which greeted Dr. Hans Luther, German Ambassador to the United States upon his recent visit to Boston to inspect the German cruiser S. S. Karlsruhe. Dan's knowledge of German, gained chiefly during his many business trips abroad, served him well while the Karlsruhe was in port.

CLASS OF 1919

On Sunday, April 29, 1934, the class, together with the class of 1920, held its annual communion breakfast at University Heights. After Mass, celebrated by Rev. Patrick J. McHugh, S. J., Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences in St. Mary's Chapel, breakfast was served to the joint classes in the Tower Building. The faculty was represented by Father McHugh and Rev. Francis V. Sullivan, S. J. The gathering was favored by interesting talks by both.

After the breakfast and joint meeting of the classes at which Francis J. Roland, president presided, a regular meeting was held to arouse enthusiasm for the celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of the graduation of the class, which will take place Alumni Day, June 11th. It was recommended that since this is the fifteenth anniversary of the class all members be urged to participate in the Alumni Day activities. If a member of the class has not received notices of the class activities directly, the sin of omission is the result of that member's failure to notify Bill Kirby of his change of address. If he read Alumnus carefully, he would be apprised of class activities. However, in order to receive direct notice from the class kindly send any change of address either to Francis J. Roland, 10 State St., Boston, or to William Kirby, R. H. White Company, Boston.

Henry Fitzgerald travelled from Rochester, New York, to be present at the class communion breakfast. Other members of the class please copy this example for Alumni Day.

Garrett Foley is faculty manager at Cambridge Latin School.

A son was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Renahan.

Frank Roland, attorney, broadcast over Station WAAB on two different occasions recently. His subjects were "Home Owners' Loan Corporation," and "Making the Banks Safe."

CLASS OF 1920

The annual communion breakfast of the class was held at University Heights April 29th. A large, representative gathering of the class attended although many former attendants were absent. It is hoped that they and other members of the class interested in the success of the college will attend the annual meeting Alumni Day, June 11th. Holy Mass was celebrated by Rev. Patrick J. McHugh, S. J., Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. Father McHugh was a guest afterwards at the breakfast and delivered a very interesting talk on the progress made by the students during the past year. Rev. Francis V. Sullivan, S. J., was also the guest of the class at breakfast and informed us of the athletic situation. The class of 1919, as is the annual custom, joined us and Mr. Francis J. Roland, '19, took charge of the meeting. The class of 1920 wished to do honor to its predecessor on the occasion of the 15th anniversary of its departure from University Heights. Ted Collins, class president, closed the meeting.

It was the opinion of those present that especial effort should be made to have the class well represented at the annual Alumni Day. The president was instructed to see that appropriate notice was given in the columns of Alumnus.

To Charlie McGill goes the honor of being the classmate from the furthest distance to attend the class communion breakfast. Charlie was a little late in arriving, but as an excuse for his tardiness he brought along Charles, Jr. Charlie is associated with the New York Herald-Tribune.

Ralph Cahouet is legal adviser to P. A. O'Connell, State Compliance Director of the NRA.

Frederick W. O'Brien, M. D., was elected president of the Massachusetts Society of Examining Physicians at the annual meeting of that organization held at the Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston, May 23, 1934.

The annual golf tournament of the class will take place June 25th according to an announcement made public by Chairman, William J. Lyons. Bill is arranging for a pleasant day on one of the better courses around Boston, but at this writing, details have not been completed. All who wish to enter the tournament may do so by getting in touch with Bill at Metcalfe's Drug Store, Copley Square, Boston. Paul Troy has been designated official handicapper.

CLASS OF 1921

Thomas P. Dee, ex-'21, former varsity quarterback, is in the Sales Advertising department of Lever Brothers, Cambridge.

A son was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin D. Gallagher. Rev. David H. McDonald of St. Andrew's Church, Jamaica Plain, officiated at the baptism and Mr. and Mrs. James Rooney acted as sponsors.

Francis J. McCaffrey is associated with the New York News Bureau. He is a member of the Boston College Club of New York.

A son was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Salmon. Tom is New England manager of the private library department of Houghton, Mifflin Company, 4 Park Street, Boston.

CLASS OF 1922

Mothers' Day was the occasion of a splendid communion breakfast conducted by the men of St. Francis de Sales parish when approximately 1250 members approached the altar rail to receive Holy Communion in tribute to their mothers. The spiritual director of the society is our classmate, Reverend James H. Doyle.

John F. Hayes and his brother, Daniel, are the local agents for the American Oil Company, Cambridge.

A second daughter was born recently to Doctor and Mrs. Daniel J. McSweeney.

Arthur Evans is head of the Physics Department of Boston English High School.

The class is glad to learn that Rev. Thomas E. Sweeney of St. Patrick's Church, Natick, and Rev. Leonard A. McMahon of St. Rose's Church, Chelsea, have recovered from their recent severe sicknesses.

A son was born in March to Mr. and Mrs. Nat Hasenfus.

James Connolly is in the lumber business in New York City.

CLASS OF 1923

James E. Kelleher is an attorney in New York City and for the past few years has been a member of the Liquidating Committee for the Bank of the United States. He is a member of the Boston College Club of New York.

William L. McNulty is associated with the Journal of Commerce, one of the leading financial papers in New York. He is a member of the Boston College Club of New York.

Bill Barry has been elected High Chief Ranger of the M. C. O. F. and is the youngest man who has ever held that office.

CLASS OF 1924

To celebrate the tenth anniversary of commencement, the class is planning an outing to be held June 9th and 10th at Plymouth, Mass. Francis L. Ford is in charge of this committee. On Monday, June 11th, the activities of the class during the Alumni Day celebration will be in charge of Joseph Rooney. All members are urged to be present at least on Alumni Day if they are unable to join their classmates at Plymouth.

Charles E. Duffy has been appointed a Junior Master at the Dorchester High School for Boys. He was a teacher of Physics at Boston College for the past six years.

The engagement of Miss Theresa Elizabeth Adan to Joseph J. Dwyer was announced recently.

The marriage of Miss Virginia Costello, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Francis J. Costello of West Newton to Christopher J. Duncan, M. D., was solemnized May 5, 1934.

George Douglas is divisional manager for the McCall Publishing Company of Buffalo, New York.

Rev. Edward Sullivan is now associated with the Catholic Charitable Bureau of the Archdiocese of Boston.

The marriage of Miss Miriam Brauer of Roslindale, to William F. Foley of Cambridge, will be solemnized June 27th in the Church of the Holy Name, West Roxbury. Bill is president of the Boston College Club of Cambridge.

CLASS OF 1925

The class held a banquet in the Martha Washington Room of the Hotel Commander, Cambridge, on the evening of April 26th. More than forty members of the class attended. After the dinner a business meeting was held. The following officers were elected for the coming year; William Arthur Reilly, president; Rev. John J. Keahane, vice-president; John Coreoran, secretary; and James "Sonny" Foley, treasurer. All those present planned to meet at the Boston College-Holy Cross game on the afternoon of Alumni Day and to attend the alumni dinner in the evening. Each man in attendance also planned to interest a classmate to be present Alumni Day in order that the class may have the largest representation in its history at the annual gathering.

During the business meeting an active discussion developed regarding plans for the celebration of the tenth anniversary of graduation next year.

A second son was born March 18, 1934, to Mr. and Mrs. L. Trefley Maloney.

The marriage of Miss Edith Vincent Lloyd, daughter of Major William H. Lloyd, medical corps, U. S. A., and Mrs. Lloyd, to Lt. George W. Lermond, former varsity track star took place in the Catholic Chapel on Governor's Island recently. Lt. Lermond is stationed with the 16th infantry, Governor's Island.

Rev. James A. Walsh, S. J., is at Weston College.

John "Steve" Patten is an instructor in the Physical Education department in the City of Boston.

John C. McDonald has been elected as delegate from Ward 21 to the Democratic pre-primary convention.

John E. Collins is an instructor of English at Boston Latin School.

Gerald Gray has been with Lever Brothers, Cambridge, since graduation from College.

George A. Verde, attorney, who recently captained a Boston College Alumni bridge team in a match with an Alumni group from Harvard, is now associated with Joseph J. O'Connell, '93, 31 Milk Street, Boston.

Rev. Jeremiah F. Gearin, former varsity track manager, is a curate at the Sacred Heart Church in Lynn.

John A. O'Keefe is an instructor of English at Boston Latin School.

Thomas E. Rafferty is with the NERA, 49 Federal Street, Boston.

Thomas J. Manning is associated with the Boston Public Library where he has been since his sophomore year at the Heights.

Francis P. Hennessey is an instructor of Mathematics at Boston Latin School.

John J. Hanrahan is associated with his brothers in the Albany Carpet Cleaning Company.

Edward F. Brickley is an instructor of English at Boston Latin School.

Arthur W. Clancy, M. D., is practicing medicine in Lowell.

Bernard F. Haywood is now associated with Breck and Company, Lexington, Mass.

Michael E. Giobbe, M. D., is practicing medicine in Torrington, Connecticut.

William A. Bateman, M. D., is practicing medicine in Lawrence, Mass.

John E. Corcoran is head of the Physics Department in Brookline High School.

James P. Maguire is a teacher at South Junior High School, Somerville.

James Ahern is in the newspaper business in Lynn.

Thomas Barrett, M. D., is an interne at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton.

Rev. Thomas L. Burns is a curate at St. Francis Xavier's Church, South Weymouth, Mass.

Francis P. Carroll is an instructor in the Science department at Boston Latin School.

John Culhane is an instructor in the Physical Education department in Cambridge.

Joseph Delaney is a saxophone player in the Vincent Lopez Orchestra and a leader of one of his bands. He recently finished a successful season at the Capitol Theater in New York.

Walter Douse is in the construction business in Dorchester.

John Curry is a teacher at Rindge Technical School, Cambridge.

John C. Fitzgerald, former varsity goaltender, is dean of the Law School of Loyola University, Chicago, Illinois.

Francis J. Flanagan is studying music in New York and filling assignments on one of radio networks.

Gerry Flynn is in the wholesale grocery business.

Francis A. Galline is a teacher of German in Boston Latin School. Since receiving his degree from Boston College, Frank has received degrees from Princeton, Harvard and two European Universities.

Eugene Giroux is a member of the State Legislature, representing the people of Somerville.

John F. Gray is an instructor of Latin in Boston Latin School.

Charles McGettrick is in the assessing department of the City of Boston.

Edward P. O'Callahan is a teacher of Latin and Greek in Boston Latin School.

Bernard J. Hawley surprised all his friends at the recent concert and supper dance of the Boston College Club of New York when he announced that he had been married on January 27th at the Blessed Sacrament Church in New York.

John Cormey is now studying to become a Benedictine Monk at St. Augustus Monastery, Scotland.

Sullivan, Conlin & Hopkins, Inc.

BUTTER, EGGS
and POULTRY

Catering To SCHOOLS, CHURCHES and CONVENTS
May We Serve You?

Basement 2, South Side
Faneuil Hall Market
Boston, Mass.

Tel. CAPitol 7381-7382

John P. Reardon, M. D., 270 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, is medical examiner of the Northern District, Middlesex County.

Charles E. "Chuck" Darling is associated in his classmate, Frank Elbery in the Elbery Motor Co., Ford dealers, 299 Prospect St., Cambridge.

CLASS OF 1926

The annual communion breakfast of the class was held Sunday, May 6th, at St. Mary's Chapel, University Heights. Mass was celebrated by Rev. Patrick J. McHugh, S. J., Dean of the College of Arts and Science. A breakfast was served later in the Tower Building. Addresses were delivered by Father McHugh, Rev. Francis V. Sullivan, S. J., faculty director of athletics and Rev. Bernard Fiekers, S. J., of the chemistry department.

Raymond Scott of Cambridge was chairman. During the meeting after the breakfast all members present were urged to attend the Communion Day activities. Men of 1926, show your loyalty to your class and to your college and attend with us Alumni Day, June 11th.

Leo E. O'Hearn, former manager of football, is in the brokerage business in New York, being associated with the New York Stock Exchange and of Watson and White at the Hotel Barclay. He is secretary of the Boston College Club of New York.

The marriage of Miss Clarice Sasso of Brookline and Charles R. Carroll, New York attorney, was solemnized June 30, in Brooklyn, New York.

Leo Monahan is in the restaurant business in New York, being associated with Childs. He is a member of the Boston College Club of New York.

The marriage of Miss Helen Murphy to William Cronin, former varsity football star, was solemnized April 14, 1934, in St. Mary's Chapel, University Heights.

Peter J. McDermott, Stuart Street Florist, has a rating as a Park Historian of National Parks and Monuments.

His daughter, Patricia, was born May 10, 1934, to Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Sullivan. Pat, the official registrar in the Dean's office at the college, has already enrolled his daughter as a member of Boston College's first co-ed.

Henry Groden, M. D., is chief house surgeon at the Boston City Hospital.

Al O'Neil is with the Union Carbon and Carbide Company in New York and resides in New Rochelle.

Al Harrison of Brooklyn, former varsity pitcher, is now with L. T. Nelson and Company, stock brokers. They are members of the New York Stock Exchange.

CLASS OF 1927

Walter Bowler is with the New York Telephone and Telegraph Company. Walter is one of the leading bowlers of the Boston College Club of New York team at the Centre, 120 Central Park South.

Paul Gillen is in the brokerage business in New York. Paul was recently married. William Gillen is associated with a large clothing organization in New York City. Both brothers are members of the Boston College Club of New York.

Thomas F. Dermody is associated with Frank Shattuck and Company, New York City. He is a member of the Boston College Club of New York.

Rev. James Maginnis is chaplain at Mt. St. Joseph's Academy, Brighton.

William Marnell is coach of debating at Boston Latin School.

Rev. Francis A. Sullivan, C. SS. R., recently was perpetually professed in the solemn vows of the Redemptorist Order in the House of Studies at Esopus, New York. He also received the major order Diaconate from the Most Reverend, Bishop, James E. Kearney of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Tom Cavanaugh, former track star, is with the Boston News Bureau in an executive capacity.

John O'Callahan is a practicing attorney with the firm of James M. Graham. At present he is the liquidating counsel for the Lowell Trust Company.

CLASS OF 1928

Patrick Tompkins is doing Social Service work in Syracuse, New York. Pat made the trip to New York for the recent concert and dance conducted by the Boston College Club of New York.

James Nash is a teacher at Xavier High School in New York. He is a member of the Boston College Club of New York.

Frank Kenny is in the statistical department of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company in Brooklyn, New York.

The sympathy of the class is extended to John Kelleher, teacher at Rindge Technical School, Cambridge, on the recent death of his father.

Ted Duffy is in the Physical Education department of the Cambridge School system.

Rev. Joseph F. Donoghue is a curate at St. Mary's Church, Beverly.

F. L. Campbell, M. D., is an interne at St. Vincent's Hospital, Worcester, Mass.

Rev. John J. Kelly is a curate at St. Anthony's Church, Cohasset.

William G. Mullen is associated with Elmer Bright and Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange.

Jim Duffy is associated with the Union Carbon and Carbide Company in Pittsburgh.

John Moriarty is with the Linde Air Products Company in its Cleveland, Ohio, office.

Paul F. Shea, formerly with the Philadelphia Inquirer is now located with the Herald Tribune in New York City. Paul plans to be married June 30th.

GRADUATE BOARD OF ATHLETICS

Second row left to right: John P. Manning '09; Thomas F. Scanlan '20; William H. Ohrenberger '27; Charles E. Darling '25.

Front row: Dr. T. J. Murphy '88; John P. Curley '13; John M. Tobin '19; Rev. Francis V. Sullivan S. J.; Joseph A. Solopont '16.

Luke Doyle is with Lever Brothers in Cambridge, Mass.

Chrales Driscoll is in the employ of the Shawmut National Bank in Boston.

Mr. William J. Casey, S. J., is now teaching English and studying Arabic at University of St. Joseph, Beyrouth, Grand Liban, Syria.

John H. Morris, attorney, is counsel for the CWA.

Dennis Manning is in the trucking business in Charlestown. A son was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Manning.

Jack Ryder is a sports writer for the Boston Evening Traveler.

Rev. Theodore J. Seckle is a curate at St. Joseph's Church, Medway, Mass.

Peter Steele is in the bonding business in Boston.

John Sullivan is a professor at Notre Dame University, South Bend, Indiana.

Rev. Michael J. Durant, former varsity tackle, is a curate at St. John's Church, Swampscott.

CLASS OF 1929

Charles O'Connor, ex-'29, who holds the distinction of being the youngest announcer of the National Broadcasting System, acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the various musical numbers at the recent concert of the Boston College Musical Clubs at The Centre, New York City.

Joseph Sheehan is a member of the faculty of Boston English High School.

CLASS OF 1930

S. Edward Flynn is teaching at Brooklyn Preparatory School.

John J. Connelly recently was appointed court officer of Suffolk County.

J. Harold Kelley is with the American Oil Company, Cambridge.

CLASS OF 1931

John P. Curran is a member of the firm George W. Smalley and Company, 30 Federal Street, Boston, dealers in stocks and bonds. John was elected recently as a delegate from Ward 17, Boston, to the Democratic State Pre-Primary Convention.

Frank Avery is in the employ of the American Oil Company, Cambridge.

CLASS OF 1932

Harry Downes, teacher-coach at Reading High School, spent his spring vacation assisting Coach Joe McKenney with the varsity football aspirants. Harry devoted his time with the candidates for center.

The class is glad to know that Ed Gallagher, former Varsity pitcher, has recovered from recent operation at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

CLASS OF 1933

Charles F. Donovan and George Lawler are at the Jesuit Novitiate at Shadowbrook.

Bernard F. Browne, Daniel Dimond, Charles K. Donohue, Joseph Connors, John J. Sullivan, James Phelan, Philip Couhig and Neil Sullivan are pursuing higher studies for M. A. degree at the Graduate School, University Heights.

Dennis F. Ryan, John W. Mahoney, James M. Connolly, William J. Murdock, John Ryan, Joseph Henry, George P. Love and Charles W. O'Brien are enrolled at the Boston College Law School, day sessions.

Henry F. Barres, Terrence Griffin, Henry Fitzgerald, and Peter Fallon are at the Boston College Law School, evening sessions.

William A. Ryan, William M. Hogan, Joseph M. Paul, John J. Connelly, John Frederic Luke Roddy, Joseph Licata, Joseph McGivern and Francis Shea are students at Harvard Law School.

Arthur J. Breslin is associated with his father in the undertaking business in Malden.

John F. Moynahan is a member of the sports staff of the Boston Herald.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION OFFICERS

Second row: J. Burke Sullivan '24; Henry J. Smith '22; John F. Monahan '24.

First row: William J. O'Sullivan '14; Rev. James H. Doyle '22; John M. Tobin '19, President; Rev. David V. Fitzgerald '07, Vice-President.

E. L. GRIMES PRINTING COMPANY

Printers of Publications

SEND FOR ESTIMATE

368 Congress Street

Phone LIBerty 3355-3356

Boston, Mass.

John J. Lynch is in the sporting department of the Boston Globe.

Lawrence Cadigan is in the sporting department of the Boston Evening Transcript.

Thomas W. Cook, John Conway, Francis O'Brien and Edward W. Kennedy are at Harvard Business School.

Joseph L. Tansey, Thomas McCarthy and Robert J. Grandfield are at Harvard Medical School.

John E. Patterson, Joseph G. Brennan and Francis E. Maguire are at Harvard Graduate School of Arts and Sciences.

Thomas Ramsey, Daniel Guerin and Patrick Moriarty are at Boston University Law School.

Edward G. Carey, Edward Manning, Francis Walsh and Laurence Bouchard are at Tufts Medical School.

Paul G. Cratty, John H. Brougham, James Foley, Matthew Connolly, John P. Hanrahan, Luke Petrocelli, Paul H. Hoppe and Christopher Sullivan are at Teachers' College.

Vincent Cosgrove, Maurice J. Whelan and Mario Romano are instructors in the C. C. C.

David Bain, Robert Jordan, Richard McGivern, Thomas Shanahan and Louis Verde are pursuing post-graduate work at University Heights.

John R. O'Brien and Gerald Whelan are at the Boston College Graduate School.

John Curley, former editor of the Heights, is in the employ of Jackson and Curtis Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange.

Robert Graney is teacher coach in the Junior High School in Walpole.

Joseph Merrick has joined his brother Bob,

'24, in New York. Joe is with Dennison and Company and is a member of the Boston College Club of New York.

John Gramzow is associated with the Jenny Oil Company.

Joe Dolan of Brighton is in the employ of Sears-Roebuck Company at its Norwood, Mass., branch. Since graduation he has spent some time in the Bristol, Conn., and Bangor, Maine, branches of the company.

Paul L. Sheridan of Somerville is associated with Blake and Kendall, Wool Merchants, Summer Street, Boston.

Leo F. Lennon is associated with the RKO in Boston.

Joe Paul of Beacon Hill is at Harvard Law School.

ALUMNI BUSINESS DIRECTORY

AUTOMOBILES

FRANCIS D. ELBERY, '25
Ford Dealer Elbery Motor Co.
299 Prospect St., Cambridge
Tel. Porter 3820

ATTORNEY

CHARLES R. CARROLL, '26
Counselor-at-Law
100 William St., New York City
Beekman 3-5800

BOOKS

THOMAS A. SALMON, '21
N. E. Mgr. (Private Library Dep't)
Houghton, Mifflin Co.,
4 Park St., Boston, Tel. Cap 1050

COLLECTING AGENCY

GEORGE A. KELLEY, '22
National Service Associates
11 Newbury St., Boston
Tel. Ken. 6450

CONTRACTORS

ALPHONSUS A. R. DOYLE, '19
Treasurer, A. R. Doyle, Inc.,
44 Perkins St., Jamaica Plain
Jamaica 0929

ENGINEERS

PHILIP D. SHEA, '20
Engineer, New York Tel. Co.
1775 Grand Concourse, New York City
Tel. Exchange 7-3300

FUEL OIL

JOSEPH C. WHITE, '20
Salesman, Pennsylvania Oil Co.
No. Union St., Somerville
Tel. Som. 8510

GROCERS

R. EDWARD FOY, JR., '21
Secretary, R. E. Foy & Sons, Inc.
1177 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.
Tel. Pres. 1234

INSURANCE

JOHN C. McDONALD, INC., '25
General Agents
40 Court St., Boston
Tel. Cap. 5435

CHRISTOPHER T. GARRAHAN, '19
General Insurance Broker
25 Oris St., Framingham
100 Milk St., Boston
Tel. Fram. 7617

GEORGE PAUL SMITH, '25
Agency Director N. Y. Life Ins. Co.
89 Broad St., Boston
Tel. Hub. 4900

MUSIC

WILLIAM ARTHUR REILLY, '25, MGR.
McLaughlin & Reilly Co.
100 Boylston St., Boston
Tel. Han. 0947

OIL BURNERS

THOMAS HARRY MULLOWNEY, '23
Salesman, Arthur H. Ballard, Inc.
535 Commonwealth Ave., Boston
Tel. Ken. 4670

PHOTOGRAPHY

ARTHUR P. MURRAY, '26
Photographic Specialists
A. P. Murray Co.
56 Roxbury St., Roxbury
Tel. Garrison 0779

REAL ESTATE - INSURANCE

FRED J. MAHONY, '25
Vice-Pres. Dyer & Co., Inc.
1318 Beacon St., Brookline
Tel. Longwood 3747

REFRIGERATION

TREFF MALONEY, '25
Sales Mgr. General Equipment Corp.
Norge, Rollator Refrigeration
584 Commonwealth Ave., Boston
Tel. Ken. 7300

SECURITIES

HENRY J. SMITH, '22
Salesman, Hornblower & Weeks
60 Congress St., Boston
Tel. Lib. 7500

TIRES

JAMES M. LINNEHAN, '15
U. S. Tires, Auto Radios, Etc.
James M. Linnehan Co.
35 High St., Boston
Tel. Lib. 2168

WINES AND LIQUORS

EDWARD G. SLINEY, '30
Edward Sliney Co.
130 Charles St., Boston
Tel. Cap. 4525

SHOW YOUR LOYALTY BY PATRONIZING THE BUSINESS DIRECTORY

CATHOLIC SCHOOL DIRECTORY

Leading Catholic Schools Offering Every Opportunity for Boys and Girls

REGIS COLLEGE

Weston, Massachusetts

A Catholic Institution for the Higher Education of Women.

Incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts with full power to confer Collegiate Degrees. Courses leading to the Degrees: A. B., B. S., A. M.

Affiliated with the Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.

Listed as a standard College by the National Catholic Educational Association.

Conducted by the Sisters of Saint Joseph.
For Catalogue Address: THE REGISTRAR

Walnut Park Country Day School

71 WALNUT PARK, NEWTON, MASS.

AN IDEAL SCHOOL FOR YOUR BOY

Conducted by the Sisters of St. Joseph under the auspices of His Eminence William Cardinal O'Connell.

Beautiful grounds, airy buildings, swimming pool, tennis court and basket ball court; football field and baseball diamond; ideal place for winter sports.

Call Newton North 1407 for Prospectus

SAINT CLEMENT'S SCHOOL FOR BOYS

CANTON, MASSACHUSETTS

Conducted by the Sisters of St. Joseph

An ideal boarding school for boys affording a solid and symmetrical elementary training. Every facility for healthful home and school life. Military Drill, Elocution and Boys' Sports. For further particulars apply to The Directress.

ACADEMY OF NOTRE DAME

Corner of Granley Street and
Bay State Road
Boston, Massachusetts

+

Day School for Girls
Preparatory, Intermediate, and
High School Classes

CATHOLIC SUMMER CAMPS

CAMP WANNALANCET for GIRLS

TYNGSBORO-ON-THE-MERRIMACK, MASSACHUSETTS

Ideally situated at the bend of the Merrimack River, Tyngsboro, and comprising over two hundred acres of pine groves, hills, meadows, and lakes, Camp Wannalancet offers every opportunity for healthful recreation in the form of basketball, hockey, tennis, golf, hiking, swimming, rowing, horseback riding, etc.

Directed by

The Sisters of Notre Dame of Namur

Assisted by

Full Staff of Selected Counselors

ADDRESS: Sister Superior, Camp Wannalancet, Tyngsboro, Massachusetts—Telephone, Tyngsboro 33

CAMP SAINT MICHAEL FOR BOYS

at

Locust Hill, Haverhill, Mass.

Conducted by Sisters of St. Joseph

Months of July and August

A real vacation and real training for a real boy
Plenty of baseball, boating and swimming, hiking, good eats and a roaring camp fire every night.

For further information apply to

MOUNT SAINT JOSEPH ACADEMY

BRIGHTON - - - - - MASS.

CAMP WAUSHAKUM FOR GIRLS

at

Framingham, Massachusetts

Under auspices of Sisters of St. Joseph

Months of July and August

Home life with Camp Activities, including Land and Water
Sports, under Direction of Sargent School Graduates

For full particulars apply to

MOUNT SAINT JOSEPH ACADEMY

BRIGHTON - - - - - MASS.

THESE SCHOOLS AND CAMPS ARE WORTHY OF THE CONSIDERATION OF THE ALUMNI

BOSTON COLLEGE

UNIVERSITY HEIGHTS
CHESTNUT HILL

DOWNTOWN CENTER
11 BEACON ST.

VERY REV. LOUIS J. GALLAGHER, S.J., President

COLLEGE DEPARTMENT

Arts and Sciences. Four-year course.
Leading to Degrees of A.B., B.S., Ph.B.
REV. PATRICK J. McHUGH, S.J., Dean

THE LAW SCHOOL

Three-year Day Course. Graduate
Course. Four-year Evening Course
Leading to Degrees of LL.B., LL.M.,
LL.D.

REV. JOHN B. CREEDEN, S.J., Regent
DENNIS A. DOOLEY, A.B., LL.B., Dean

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

Master's Degree
Doctor's Degree
REV. JOHN F. DOHERTY, S.J., Dean

EXTENSION SCHOOL

Undergraduate Courses
Fall and Winter Classes at Boston
College High School
Summer Classes at University Heights
Pre-Legal Courses at 11 Beacon St.
REV. JOHN F. DOHERTY, S.J., Dean

BOSTON COLLEGE IS AFFILIATED WITH

- The Catholic Educational Association
- The American Council on Education
- The Association of American Universities
- The Association of American Colleges
- The New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools
- The American Association of Collegiate Registrars
- The Regents of the University of the State of New York

I'm "that way" about Chesterfields, too—

the cigarette that's MILDER
the cigarette that TASTES BETTER

M. B. CO

JUN 1939

BINDERS

BOSTON COLLEGE

ARCHIVES

216587

